Vienna, October 2022. VCE has extended its management board by Günther Achs as of now. Together with the other managing directors he takes further important steps towards sustainability, climate protection and digitization.

Since October 2022 Günther Achs (43) has extended the management board of VCE. Up to now more than 350 employees have been led by Wolf-Dietrich Denk, Dieter Pichler and Robert Schedler. The management board now consists of four persons. Within ten years Mr. Achs has risen from authorized representative to partner in the management board of VCE and its subsidiaries. Günther Achs studied structural engineering at the Vienna University of Technology and has more than 15 years of professional experience as project manager.

Günther Achs has significantly further developed the field Acoustics, Dynamics, Building Physics, Measurement & Instrumentation since joining the company in 2005 and he will also be responsible for the sectors Traffic Design and Geotechnics in future.

With Sustainability and Digitization towards more Quality of Life

In his new position as managing director of VCE Mr. Achs would like to further push sustainability, climate protection and digitization in construction engineering. As firmly anchored in the company vision, it is an essential target to sustainably increase the quality of life of the people. "Our employees are the basis for the company success, and we would like to encourage them to develop new working methods, products and services – ideas should not be limited", says Mr. Achs and adds, "In this way we have been able to considerably extend our scope of services in the field of environmental engineering and digitization in the last few years and to contribute to our socio-political responsibility." Digitization serves as acceleration factor to make processes more efficient, increase the quality of services and successfully handle projects for our clients.

A Positive Look into the Future

Due to the current market situation considering pandemic, inflation and war Günther Achs sees a lot of challenges but also opportunities. Regarding the continuously increasing lack of personnel VCE has positioned itself as modern employer. "Home office and flexible working time models are a possibility to respond to the individual needs of the employees of VCE and to offer them an attractive working environment. VCE as interdisciplinary and international company is well prepared for quickly changing markets thanks to flexibility, quality and innovation", says Günther Achs.
